ROENTGEN RAY SYSTEM

Explained to the Members of the New Haven Photographers' Society Last Evening.

The Roentgen ray system occupied the attention of the members of the New Haven Photographic society and its guests to the number of 125 last evening. Few, if any, of the Wednesday evening meetings have been more interesting than that of last evening The demonstrators were George R. Saunders of the Veru Rubber company and George S. Foote of the Connecticut Electrical company. These gentlemen have made an exhaustive study of the subject and have aided many of the physicians and surgeons of the city in locating foreign substances in patients' bodies. Mr. Saunders explained in detall the history of the system up to the discovery of Roentgen and touched upon the work of Edison, Tesla and others in this line.

A big static electrical machine and ome focus tubes were used in the lecture and the operation of the rays were shown very plainly. A skeagraph of the hand of one of the members was made and showed plainly and distinctly all the bones, even to the smallest. The lecture was witnessed and greatly enjoyed by a number of physicians prominent in the city. Mr. Foote and Mr. Saunders will deliver the same lecture on March 1 as one of the Boardman course of lectures.

Miss Yvonne de Treville, the soprano soloist of the coming Gounod concert on February 9, has just been given an engagement with the Oratorio society of ing been chosen by the Gounod society of this city. She is one of the most interesting sopranos now before the public and she is having a delightful career. She won one of her great successes last Monday night by her singing in "Lucia The New York di Lammermoor." The New York Times said of it: "The Castle Square Opera company's performance of Donizetti's 'Lucia' in English was enthusiastically received at the American theater last night and the reception given Miss Yvonne de Treville, who sang the title role, was cordial. Miss de Treville, who appeared a trifle nervous at first, received curtain calls after each act, and after the 'Mad Scene' was recalled eight lies on vice, and thus directing their attention constantly to it, they were simply kept busy at some wholesome work or play every minute, they would be far more thoroughly helped and cleansed than would be possible in any other manner. Most parents either do not realize the gravity of this task or are to lazy or incapable to attend to it. For young people work is worth all the 'White Ribbon' exhortations in the world, useful as they may sometimes be. The first duty of the rich is to be industrious and to inculcate habits of industry in their children. If they are only taught to keep constantly busy in some useful and ennobling employment the chances of their evolution into honorable men and women are a miltimes increased. Awaken their intellectual curiosity. Study with them yourself, mothers. It is the parent who usually best fitted to form the early habits of the child if he will only take the trouble to do it. The making of collections and the hard study of almost any branch of natural history are likely to interest children. The making of machines, the intricacles of music the management of a printing-press, may be used to busy children .- Woman's Home Companion.

MACHINE ROAD-MENDERS. In spite of the constant advance in mechanical contrivance there are occupations which must still depend upon handiwork. Such we assume to be the business of picking up with the pickaxe the stones of a macadamized road before fresh metal could be laid and rolled upon it. But a machine called Rutty's patent macadamroad sacarifler may now be seen at work in London, and possibly elsewhere, tearing up the street roadway in the most satisfactory manner is of the nature of a plough, the ploughshare being represented by thick spikes of chilled iron, which, set at antear up the roadway machine dragged behind a steam-roller.
